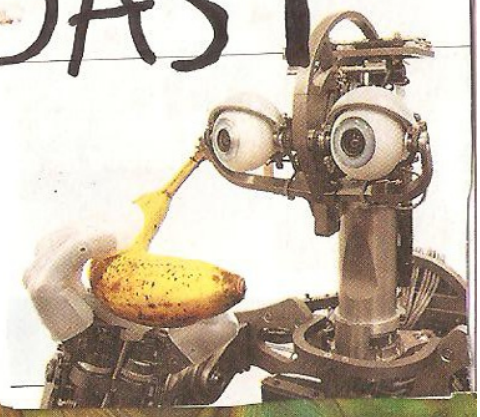
MIGHTY ORDER OF MILKTOAST



Welcome back to the horribly trusting hands of The Milktoast Media Group! This Loosely tied puke orgy of art, rants, ideas, dispelled fantasies, porn, words, hate and love that you hold in your hands is officially MILKTOAST #2. Its 2011 which means this was about a year in the making, not that any of us spent a year working on it. We were to busy boning, getting high and making music. Plus threes tons of Sci-Fi to watch and the magazine/porn pile was looking slim. But after 3 space opera albums (Abandon Mother Earth, the Doorstep Ep and Target Planet Earth) and hounding friends into arts and crafts we made... well something.

We hope you enjoy the latest installment in the serial scripture of Mighty Order Of Milktoast.

MILKTOAST is Back! and it never left. Last time you got really pissed at your boss and imagined an awesome kung-fu action sequence, that was Milktoast, and last time you sat through a kids Bukowski rant only to put gum on his seat when he gets up to goto the pisser, that was THE TOAST, and when you asked your partner to hum the old school Batman theme song when she/he did that one thing you like, MILKTOAST WAS DEFENTLY FUCKING THERE!

A vase in the living room as kid always aware and cautious not to break it, now a grown ass man and that vase is still my problem whenever I play or hangout. I went to my room changed my pants a grown ass man when I hangout and wherever I go out I have to worry about choice and morality while I do everything and now I recall this worrying from when I was a kid and remember what I had learned then with the vase that it was just aesthetics and so it would be ok break it bend covet it it's just for looks.

Bring me my newest full time employee!
Meanwhile at the boss's figurative office.
I want to congratulate him myself!
Contravallations, after years of hard work, we as a company have decided to promote you! ...
Of course this will come with a few more responsibilities...
Thank God! What exactly will I be doing?

HUMAN.
Have you seen the movie Saw?
Back in the Office!
I have had enough of this bullshit; I won't take anymore painful draining embarrassment!
Im About too stomp you ass in
LIKE THE STRONG FOOT OF THE MIGHTY UICORN WHO IS MIGHTY AND STRONG!
NO... HE IS MEAT, LIKE YOURSELF.
AND MEAT FEELS PAIN.
AAAAA
Well um I guess....
Wait Why?

God Is Watching
OUR VERY THOUGHTS.
Today is Dubie blunt day! Somewhere between the awesome glory of payday and the vast darkness that is "the next week" is a nugget of compiled greatness. The dubie blunt a mixtape of the week's greatest hits, a scrapbook of old friends and the last line of defense, of coarse before the unspoken resin. Its very existence makes it ok to smoke your last nug because someone hasn't EVER!?! seen Heavy Metal.
While few days are as full of emotion as dubie blunt day, it is no way considered a holiday by most (except of course by me) and if you are lucky enough to get holiday pay, no job is going to give you it off. Let alone pay you for the day of the dubie. Days like that don't get holidays, not important days like that, and if it did they would find a way to fuck us with it.
Due to Christ's death on the cross and His resurrection

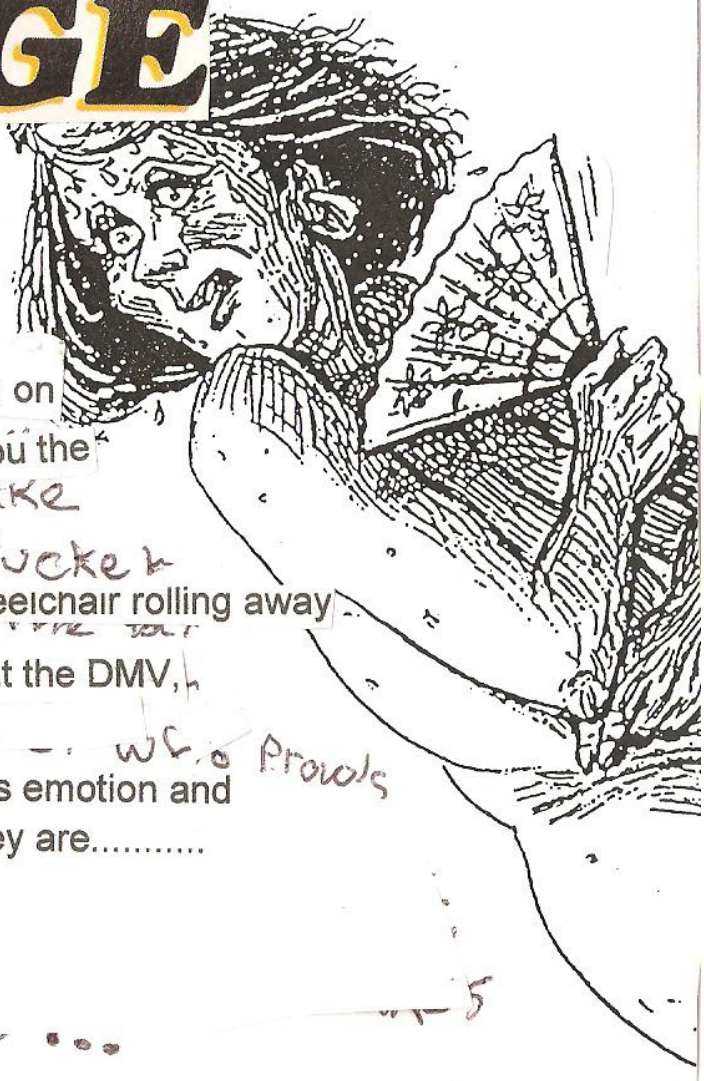
INDULGE IN YOUR Power



Some crazy fucking shit went down on some next level mold action to make you the crazy motherfucker that you are. Love or Hate it, the fat smelly guy in a wheelchair rolling away from McDonalds or the angry mumbler at the DMV, the stand alone as their own special blend of chemicals emotion and conditioning. And makes them who they are.....

.....and most likely:

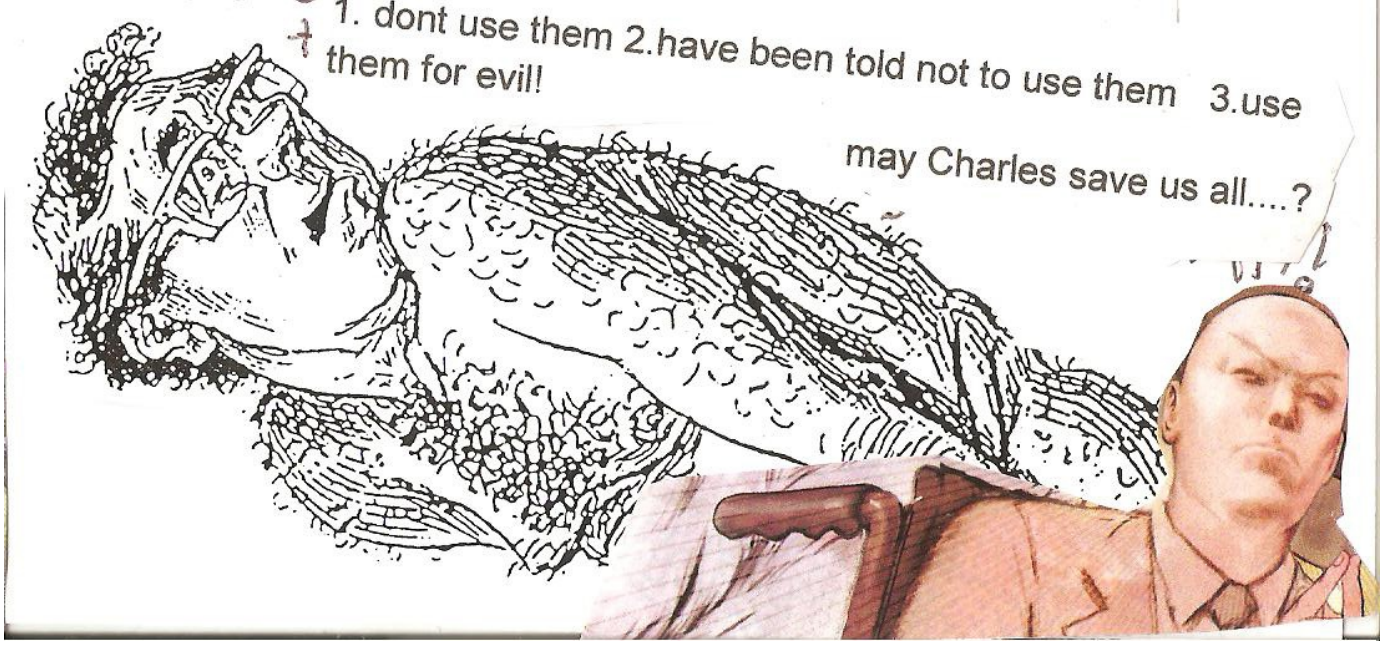
Gives them Super Powers!

Gives Them Super Powers!

Powers!?!?! Every one of us Fugly ass mutants has them we just:

1. dont use them 2.have been told not to use them 3.use them for evil!

may Charles save us all....?



robots

how far have they come?

On a ride home from yet another impoverished night, during one of the many fox news breaks parting "experts" or/and unique callers on the Coast to Coast am shows, I began to feel a very serious sensation as I watched the Modesto night life roll by. I don't know if it was the mad maxed out homebums or the man on the radio talking very jokingly about several news stories involving murder, corruption and lawyers but I got the engulfing feeling that I was living in Robocop 3. Not the general setting of course being that I live in rural urban sprawled as apposed to the retched depths of a big city currently, but it was all there. Poverty, companies/cops run amok and heavy artillery of thugs that could put a huge damper on any midnight pinball sesh, all with that comical desperation you would enjoy in a good 80/90s sci-fi film. Now normally playing a role in a movie about cyborgs would have filled my nerdy heart with joy but with this notion came an unsettling fact, although the villainary had appeared there was no Robocop.

Every other aspect was there; companies running wild armed with technological advances but no Tony stark, gangsters on kill mode but appear no punisher, militant new frontiers and factions but still no fucking Gundams. Somewhere along the way we got fucked up, and the future sifted through all the good shit and left us a fecal collage of all the bad parts. the future sucks! and as we wait for some higher being or mean spirited centian frontiersmen to come down from the stars to finaly wipe us off this poor planet, we will enjoy none of the cybernetic awsomeness promesed while wallowing in super-poverty and geneticly fucked up babys (the bad kind).

The whole world wants you to suck ass. Every aspect of you life has been tactically placed in order to better form you into a good gear, notch or pulley. They know how you roll because they created the dance moves, taught them to your infant baby-self and watched it grow into you. Sometimes as I sit looking at the wall of TVs at work, I fade out into a colorful world full of color my mind numbs a vision blurs. I do this several times a day depending on how long my shift is. Some times if I allow it to go on too long, I begging to truly feel my mind free up from control slightly. The room clears and the store becomes nothing more erected rock, I and everyone around me are stripped to mere mortals, and the orders you don't know your taking become apparent in front of me. I instantly began to feel embarrassed as if I was the naked, confused and crying butt of a very large and funny joke. I struggle franticly back to this reality as another customer has a return.
